

Hazeldown School – Learning Values and Social Bond

Within the over-arching vision statement of ‘Learning for Living’, we have seven learning values, which are a focus for much of our work in and beyond the classroom. Our learning values support us in learning together as a school community, developing and growing our abilities and understanding about ourselves and others which, in turn, enables individuals to be well prepared for life beyond primary school.

Our Learning Values are:

- Collaboration
- Resilience
- Empathy
- Relationships
- Being reflective
- Risk-Taking
- Being resourceful

These are displayed outside the school hall and in every classroom, with examples of how they have been used in practice. They are embedded in our every day life at Hazeldown, being a focus for assemblies, planned and incidental discussion in classrooms and both adult –led and spontaneous reflection by the children.

In addition to our Learning Values we operate a simple Social Bond, which provides three guidelines to support everyone in understanding our expectations for conduct.

- 1. Everyone has the right to learn without disruption.
- 2. Everyone has the right to feel comfortable whilst at school.
- 3. Everyone has the right to not be hurt whilst at school.
